6.4 CHAMPIONSHIP POINTS CALCULATION

6.4.1 Drop Worst Round

Each competitor lowest points round will be dropped when calculating the championship results, see "minus 1" in the points calculation.

6.4.2 Calculations based on number of rounds.

Where the championship consists of 6 rounds or more the scoring will be:

The best score of N minus 1 round (where N = the number of rounds) will determine placing's in CLASSES NOT affected by a Limited Eligibility Round.

The best score of N minus the sum of [1+ number of Limited Eligibility Rounds] will determine placing's in CLASSES AFFECTED by a Limited Eligibility Round.

The best score of N minus the sum of [1+ number of Limited Eligibility Rounds] will determine placing's in the OUTRIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

Where the championship consists of 5 rounds or fewer the scoring will be:

Points scored in all rounds of the championship will be used to determine placing's in CLASSES NOT affected a Limited Eligibility Round.

The best score of N minus the Limited Eligibility Round will determine placing's in CLASSES AFFECTED by a Limited Eligibility Round.

The best score of N minus the Limited Eligibility Round will determine placing's in the OUTRIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

If two competitors finish on equal points for either first, second or third places in any class then the winner will be determined via a count back.

6.4.3 Count Back

On a count back the driver who scores the greater number of higher place finishes during the season is the successful driver. For example, if driver A scores 3 wins and driver B scores 2 then driver A is the successful driver. Where both have the same number of first place finishes, then the greater number of second place finishes would be included in the count back, and if still tied, third place finishes and so on. If after all non-dropped round places are tallied the drivers remain tied the dropped round will then be included in the count to determine the successful driver. For further information please refer to Article 7 of the Motorsport Australia Championship and Series Policy.
